

Safety Training

Fall 2018

To register visit, www.ffvamutual.com/events

View short talks at www.ffvamutual.com/safety/short-talks

September

Return to Work [Webcast]

Wednesday, September 5 @ 10:30 to 11:30 am ET

This webcast will guide you through the Return to Work (RTW) process and what steps to take if an employee is injured at work. Here's what we'll cover - the importance of a RTW program, how to implement one at your company, why not having a program may hurt your bottom line, and ways RTW programs improve company morale.

October

Job Hazard Analysis JHA [Webcast]

Wednesday, October 10 @ 10:30 to 11:30 am ET

Most jobs now require a job hazard analysis (JHA) to comply with OSHA requirements. Our webcast presenters will review the benefits of JHA's, how to conduct one, and ways to use JHA's as a guide to outline company policies and procedures.

Safety Leadership Academy | Ft. Myers, FL [In-person Training Event]

Thursday, October 18 @ 8:00 am to 4:30 pm ET

This one-day event includes ways to develop and implement procedures to improve your safety program and reduce injury costs that impact your company's bottom line. A highlight of the Academy is a panel discussion with an attorney and an FFVA Mutual claims adjuster and underwriter. Complimentary lunch is included for all attendees.

November

Falls from Elevations [Short Talk Release]

Wednesday, November 14

This short talk gives attendees an overview of ways to protect workers from elevated falls including protection requirements, areas to protect, fall prevention measures, and employee training.

December

Powered Industrial Trucks [Short Talk Release]

Wednesday, December 12

During this short talk, we will review the training needed to meet federal regulations, forklift operator safety, ways to work safely around forklifts, and how to develop company policies and procedures.

For additional information about these events, email karen.johnson@ffvamutual.com