Type of Accident										A L	T O T A L
TOTAL
% OF TOTAL											100

The chart shows frequency (numbers) of accidents in the various categories. By examining the percentages, it becomes evident what type of accident or which department should receive priority attention. For example, the two types of accidents that occur most frequently are: Struck Against and Foreign Body in Eye. The departments where these accidents happen most often should receive special attention.
